Lieut. John J. Holloway died on the 27th ult. suddenly at the residence of his father n Russellville. When the war commenced he was a student at Union College, Schenectady, in his junior year; he left his studies and entered the 25th Kentucky infantry as Second Lieutenant in September, 1861, and served with distinction until April, 1862, when, upon the consolidation of that regiment with the 17th Kentucky, he resigned, having fought gallantly at Fort Donelson, where he was severely wounded. In August of the same year he entered the 8th Kentucky cavalry as First Lieutenant of company E. and was mustered out of service at the expiration of the term on the Thursday preceding his death. He commanded his company for the pursuit and capture of Morgan's raiders, on which occasion he was distinguished for his undaunted courage and persistent energy. He possessed all the noble qualities of an amiable gentleman and a brave and gallant officer. He won the love and esteem of every man in his regiment, and his death at the early age of twenty-two will be deeply regretted by

The National Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows met at Baltimore last week. The Grand Secretary reported a tabular statement of the statistics of the order as far as could be ascertained. There are no reports from the Grand Lodges of Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Tennessee, New Mexico, and the British North American Provinces. The reports from the other States and Territories show that they contain 2,759 subordinate lodges, with 132,179 members. During the year ending on the 30th June last, the aggregate amount expended for the relief of brothers was $288,165 46, and for the relief of widowed families $50,949 63, and for the education of orphans $8,038 06. The report also states that in the same States and Territories there are 513 subordinate encampments, with 17.687 members. Relief was afforded to the amount of $32,317 30 to patriarchs, and $2,-537 16 for the relief of widowed families, while $62 90 were expended for the education

LOUISVILLE ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF THE M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

This body convened at Glasgow, Kentucky, on the 30th of September, 1863. In the absence of the presiding officer, Bishop Kavanaugh, the Conference was called to order by This body convened at Glasgow, Kentucky, on the 30th of September, 1863. In the absence of the presiding officer, Bishop Kavanaugh, the Conference was called to order by Rev. A. H. Redford, on whose motion, Rev. Robt. Fisk took the chair till an organization could be effected. After the usual interesting religious exercises in the opening of the session, and the calling of the roll by the Secretary of the last Conference, the members very generally being present to answer to their names, which has not been the case for two or three years past, Rev. Jno. H. Linn, D. D. was declared elected President on the first ballot. On taking his seat, he made some very feeling and appropriate remarks, expressing regret at the absence of the Bishop who, it seems, is detained at home owing to severe family

Revs. N. H. Lee and David Morton were elected Secretaries, and the Conference proceeded at once to business.

Committee on Missions—The Presiding Elders of the various Districts.
On the Bible Cause—C. B. Parsons, E. G. Nicholson, and Artemas Brown.

Joint Board of Conference Stewards—Clerical members—Revs. G. W. Brush, L. P. Crenshaw, D. A. Beardsley, Artemas Brown, Jas. A. Henderson, and Jas. C. Petrie. Lay mem-bers—Charles F. Harvey, James, W. Cowherd,

After fixing the hours of meeting and the times for preaching and other religious exercises, A. H. Redford, as agent of the Conference Book and Tract Society, made his annual report, which was received and referred to the Committee on Books. Communica-tions, also, on the subject of education from Dr. Stevenson, in respect to his connec-tion with the Russellville Female Institute, and Rev. D. D. Moore, of Princeton, Ky., were received and appropriately referred.

The names of the several young members on trial were called, and their characters passed. The names of the Deacons, also, after being severally called, the Presiding Elders giving their ministerial and religious status, their characters passed. Henry M. Ford and Samuel P. FOR THE MONTH OF SEPTEMBER, 1862.

The Conference assembled at the usual hour and following the religious exercises, upo the President taking the chair, an unlooked church, a company of guards remaining upon the outside. The Conference being called to order, the Lieutenant read the special order any disloyal ministers present, unwilling take the oath of allegiance, they were to be arrested at once, &c. To test the matter the arrested at once, &c. To test the matter the Lieutenant proposed to the preachers to salut the old flag. Dr. C. B. Parsons was the first to come forward and boldly take the staff i he Conference generally, in like manner Under the circumstances, in the Church (God, Christ's ambassadors present, numberin was a scene of thrilling interest.

The Lieutenant had a few names he now called upon to know their position, evidently presented to the Marshal by some one prejudiced against them, for, as was proved in the few moments' investigation, they were un doubtedly loyal men. In the closing up o this little episode, the President of the Con ference, Rev. Dr. Linn, so well known in Louisville, took the flag-staff in hand and made the following impromptu speech:

made the following impromptu speech:

BRETHERS: This is an unexpected domand, but you have met it promptly. We recognize that civil government is a Divine institution, appointed for the benefit of mankind, and that this is the doctrine of the Holy Scriptures, not only from its general tenor, but its direct command. Hence Christianity, without compromising its letter or spirit, enjoins obedience under any form of government under which we live. This we recognize as particularly incumbent on Christian ministers. This hag, presented to you as a test of loyalty, is an emblem of constitutional liberty sacred to every American's heart by the memories of the past—dear to every Christian because beneath its ample folds the Minister of the Gospel and the Missionary of the Cross have found protection wherever our government has been represented. It is to us the guarantee of all the protection that Christianity needs—rights of conscience—freedom to worship God—as such we greet this flag. Let Methodist preachers, more than all other men, be loyal to the government in which they live. more than all other men, be loyal to the government in which they live.

The 23d article of our faith enjoins this as a duty. This article has not been repudiated by us, and untilities we are only loyal to the church while we are loyal to the Government that protects our beloved Zion. Sir (said the President, handing the flag back to the officer), we appreciate your position. It is the du'y of a soldier to obey—to follow his flag. Take this, flag, and may it be untarnished in your hands. The military left satisfied, and the Conference at once proceeded with its routine of bu-

Also, a sample of Sea Island, or which will pass for such, from the Third District. It is worth, at this time, compared to other qualities, two dollars per pound."

The wished all the subscribers to rally, pay their annuities promptly, and continue to purchase largely, as he was able to guarantee them everything in the book line, down to stationery of all kinds, cheaper than they can be obtained anywhere in the West. As to Methodist literature, it was the best in the world, and needs only to be circulated to cause the people to believe it. Methodist preachers, with their saddle-bags loaded, are the agents, &c. His remarks became more pungent and interesting as he proceeded, but are too lengthy to report here. No evil effects are too lengthy to report here. No evil effects are apprehended in the spread of wholesome dollars belonging to various individuals and to the firm. About the same time, a lady boarding at the hotel, a Mrs. Holmes, whose husband does a travelling business in this section of the State, started on a journey to Vermont, to pass a few weeks with relatives in that State. The former went away with only a carpet bag in hand, but soon after his departure it was discovered that his entire stock of clothing had been spirited away. stock of clothing had been spirited away.

ELOPEMENTS IN NEW HAMPSHIRE .- A correspondent of the Manchester American mentions two recent cases of elopement in New Hampshire. One occurred in Plymouth and the other in Holderness. He gives the circumstances as follows:

The lady managed to get her wardrobe into three or four trunks, and, being privileged thus to take her all, excited little attention. Suspicion was aroused too late to ascertain the whereabouts of the eloping pair. Mr. Greeley was a bachelor, and for some time scandal had associated him with Mrs. Holmes in not too reputable intimacy. The affair naturally creates much talk and no little surprise, considering the social position of the parties, in which respect it is only equalled by the elopement of Mr. Smith, a member of the Legislature and proprietor of the wellthe Legislature and proprietor of the well-known Whiton place, just over the river in Holderness, with the daughter of a neighbornoiderness, with the daughter of a neighboring farmer, who had been his hired girl. It took place immediately after the adjournment of the Legislature. During the session the girl was a table waiter at the Eagle, in Concord, and greatly astonished her associates with the number and richness of her silks and setting.

I am very much fatigued, but, knowing there is much anxiety felt about this com-mand, not only that which grows out of apmand, not only that which grows out of apprehensions for its safety, but an ardent wish that it may reach its destination in time to give aid to the Army of the Cumberland, which is now struggling against such tremendous odds. The command marched from Glasgow on the 25th, with infantry, cavalry, and artillery, and has made this point (seventy-five miles) in four days—having to pull the wagon train up many of the hills. This is a hilly, woody country; so you see we are mahilly, woody country; so you see we are ma-king good time. We have yet 105 miles to go, and will make it by the 4th of October. There is so much devolving on the officers to hurry forward this command, that they have but ittle time for rest. General Manson takes a hand at everything, not refusing to pull at the ropes to help the mules up the hills. We have not heard of the enemy except in small squads, who are at their old game, even in their own State of Tennessee—horse stealing. We met a poor fellow to-day who had been sacked by some of Ferguson's cutthroats, only a few miles in our front. We had as well chase the mountain eagle as these men; they know well the hiding places, and avail themselves of them. I think it would be a good plan o hang these scamps when they are caught. All the people claim to be good Union men, although they may have just returned from one of their thieving scouts. The roadside in many places was lined with home-spun women and children, all of whom hailed us with partnership and equality under the Constitution.

There is nothing from the Rapid Ann or Army of the Cumberland.

An unusual degree of excitement prevails

An unusual degree of excitement prevails its mere property is concerned, but, with that, have conscripted their husbands, fathers, brothers, and sweethearts; in their loneliness

they are in a desolated country.
The saddest picture in the book of time is the village of Albany; it makes one feel lonely and think of ghosts; only three families there, and only one man; houses broken to pieces; few who are there are not half clad, with people who are always hunting for objects of charity were to send an agent into this vil-lage the God of benevolence would smile upon their efforts, and for once they would operate in a field where it was impossible to find an impostor to feed his laziness on charity.

The question of forage presents many hard scenes; no one man has enough to feed our scenes; no one man has enough to feed our stock. To take all and leave the women and children to suffer, is truly hard, and the best efforts of the officers often fail to protect them. A soldier will feed his horse. The land is poor and the corn light; it requires acres to supply the demand to keep the hills and mountain gorges from being rendered vocal with the unearthly sound of the braying of hungry mules.

THE FEAST OF TABERNACLES. - This is one of the three great annual festivals of the Jews, Stephen, company D, 22d Kentucky, died in being that of the closing year, as the Passover | the military hospital at Memphis on the 27th was of the spring. It is commemorative of ult. the period when the Children of Israel left their tents, and an acknowledgment of the Divine goodness toward them during their wanderings in the wilderness. This Feast of the Tabernacles is now being celebrated throughout the country by those of the Rebrew faith. It commenced on Sunday, the 27th ult., and will conclude on Tuesday, the 6th inst. The first two and the last two days are observed as more holy than the intervening days, and the last day of all is one of rejoicing and thanksgiving, for on that day the reading of the Scroll is finished, and commenced anew, This feast is being duly observed by the Hebrew population of Louisville.

The contractors for the building of the First and Second Street Railroads of this city have, since the award of the contract to them, petitioned the General Council for a change in their contract, so as to permit them to reduce the gauge of their track from what was contemplated by the charter. The question was referred by the General Council to a committee consisting of Mayor Kave, and Messrs William Terry and John D. Orvill for investigation and report. This committee left on the mailboat to-day for Cincinnati to examine the gauge of the various street railroads of that city, with a view of obtaining such information by their investigations as would be of advantage to the city in the premises.

THE GREAT FROST .- A correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing from Union coun-On Sept. 1st I sent you an account of the great frost on the night of Aug. 29th, from Decatur. I now write of another frost, which frost had killed all that the other frost spared. I could not imagine that it had reac our semi-tropical latitude of Southern Illin our semi-tropical latitude of Southern Illinois.

The frost of Aug. 29 had killed everything on low grounds from 38° to 40°, leaving the crops North and South of these points unharmed, and also the crops within the degrees named which were on grounds the least elevated. It was computed that about one half of the corn in the great central corn region was destroyed. This last frost made a clean sweep of all that was left, and also extended South as far as 36°, or 70 miles south of Cairo. sweep of all that was left, and also extended South as far as 36°, or 70 miles south of Cairo. Meanwhile the corn had been rapidly maturing, and only very late pieces, which the first frost saved, are much injured, but the fodder is gone. I think that it will be a fair estimate to say that at least one-third of the whole cern crop of the West is a total loss—while much of the rest is badly bitten, in fact, very little if any corn of first quality of this year's growth will be sent to market, so impossible will it be to separate the good from the bad. But there are large stocks of old corn on hand, so that on the whole we shall not be very badly off; and yet many farmers whose grounds

The direct consequence of this must be that a great supply of beef cattle will soon be sent your market. After that, scarcely any can esent, and this from the regions which, through the whole years hitherto, has sent most. Pork can but be scarce and high, as well as many other articles depending upon

We are consoled with the reflection that wheat and oats never were better, and that they cannot be taken from us; and the old story of the planter may be repeated: as, talking to his wife, he says, "It is true there is no corn, but there is plenty of wheat, and, if the horses and niggers cannot live on it, they may

Yesterday, as I came down from Chicago toward Cairo, I saw that the cornfields look drier, and that garden vegetables were cut off. I inquired of those coming North and had gloomy accounts, and at last I was forced to conclude that the frost was harder at Cairo than at Chicago. The corn, of course, was out of the way, but the tobacco, the late potatoes, which usually grow more than half during October, all flowers, and late-growing vegetables, have become as dry and sere as one ever sees them in February. It was a hard, black frost, which, on last Sunday morning, was scraped up by handfuls. Even the leaves of peach trees are killed. It is a the leaves of peach trees are killed. It is a fact that on last New Year's Day I had peach trees as green as any I have to-day. Perhaps the loss of our buckwheat touches one of our most trades posts. most tender spots. So much for common

The great crop of sugar cane, on which so much depended, is ruined. Then, as regards the cotton—oh, dear!—this cuts me down. I care little for the eight acres of my own; but for the grand experiment which a few weeks of good weather would have proved a success, this I do care for. I know, too, that many de-bended on this crop to place them out of debt. One can almost weep to see the vast fields which a few days ago were so green, but which now are dead and black. One farmer, a neighbor, from Tennessee, who has ten acres, thinks that the frost has destroyed half of his crop, for the case is this: when the bolls are fully formed frost does not hurt thom, but

I have a word to add about what the New York Times of the 18th said of cotton in Illi nois: that is, as they predicted last spring, not a bale of cotton will be raised north of hospital purposes. The hospitals in this city, New Albany, and Jeffersonville are under the superintendence of Maj. T. W. Fry, an experienced physician and officer, who has if he knows anything about it. Facts, and not theories, are what we want.

Now, the fact is, that for more than forty years cotton has been raised in Illinois as far north as Vandalia, and during all this time it has done first rate except one year only, when it was killed in June. Within this region are thousands of families who, during the who thousands of families who, during the whole time, and up to the present moment, have worn scarcely any other cotton cloth than such as they themselves raised, spun, and wove. If the frosts of the year prove that cotton cannot be raised here, they also prove that corn cannot be raised in Central Illinois. I never saw finer fields of tobacco than I saw last week near Cleveland, on Lake Erie. If frosts works anything they prove that tobacco that I saw last week near Cleveland, on Lake Erie. If frosts prove anything they prove that tobac-co cannot be raised in Kentucky, but that it

I think I know upon what authority the Times makes these wild statements. After the frost of August 30, M. L. Dunlap, of Champaign, sent a despatch to the Chicago Tribune, paign, sent a despatch to the Chicago Tribune, and, among other things, said that, as he expected, all of the "free cotton was destroyed." What Mr. Dunlap meant was "tree cotton," which I saw growing at his place, and which the Agricultural Department sent out among other stuff as a great thing. Mr. Dunlap knows better than to make any such statement as the types represent. This reminds me of an error of the types in my own case, for in speaking of rain-belts in the Tribune, I wrote, "they are one hundred miles wide." Living on the ground here, I ought to know all about the ground here, I ought to know all about the cotton prospects, and I have to say, "I care not what you or other men may say, as for my single self, next year I shall plant at least twenty acres of cotton."

A SHREWD ORDERLY .- After the 1st Michigan had left the main column, in the late advance on the Rapid Ann, General Kilpatrick desired to communicate with it. Major Cook, desired to communicate with it. Major Cook, chief of staff, with an orderly, started directly across the country to deliver the message, under the supposition that the regiment had met with no opposition, and was quietly ensconced at Stevensburg. After going about four miles, a suspicious looking picket was perceived, when the orderly, who had on a light colored cap, advanced and asked if they were "Hood's (rebel) men," to which the picket replied, "No, we are Robinson's." The orderly, not disconcerted in the least, said, "Well, we are all ordered in—the Yankees are in force just over yonder, and advancing." The reserve of this picket was in sight, and seeing the lieutenant in command advancing the orderly retired and upon meeting Major Cook told him what had occurred. They leisurely walked away, and it was not until they had got out of away, and it was not until they had got out of sight of the picket that they deemed it pru-dent to run their horses. The same orderly was captured in Culpepper, but made the rebels believe that he was "one of them," and es-

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 7, 1863.

We confess our apprehensions that a serious reverse has befallen the second expedition from Louisiana to Texas. Several days ago, a private despatch was reported to have been received in New York that Gen. Weitzel had been defeated by Gen. Dick Taylor, in command of the rebel forces at Napoleon, La., and, a day or two afterwards, a rebel organ was announced as stating on the authority of one of the New Orleans papers, all of which are loyal, that the Federal arms had sustained a very serious disaster in Louisiana. And now it is announced, under date of the 23d from . Vicksburg, that the expedition to Texas is abandoned. We hope that all is right, but the Federal Administration is so rigid in prohibiting the transmission of unfavorable news by telegraph, that, when we get bad rumors from uncertain sources, we are always painfully anxious until we get the truth in a reliable shape. We think the whole country has often been puzzled in trying to conjecture what advantage the high functionaries of the Government could possibly promise to themselves or to the country from keeping back for a day or two the news which is as certain to be known then as the earth is to turn upon its | ers our proposition that he write his editorials

After all, however, we have a strong hope, we may say a belief, that there has been no federal reverse in Louisiana. We trust, that, if the second expedition to Texas has been abandoned, the policy has been adopted of adding the strength of that expedition to the | self. Army of the Cumberland.

The 2d division of the 20th army corps at the battle of the Chickamauga was com- the eggs. manded by Brigadier-General R.W. Johnson. Previous to the fight it had been encamped at one of the depressions of Pigeon Mountain called Catlett's Gap. On the morning of the 19th orders were received to push forward to the support of the left wing, which was done, Gen. Johnson reporting to Gen. Thomas, who instructed him to move up in the direction of the battle, where the cannonading was fiercest. As the division approached the spot, General Thomas in person ordered it to form its battle line and advance to the attack. This advance was made in a somewhat oblique direction to the main line, with Willich's brigade on the a reserve, and the rebels were forced back. some upon two. At this time Hazen's brigade, on the right of the 2d division, being heavily pressed, Gen. Johnson sent his reserve under Dodge to its relief, which it accomplished briskly at double-quick and in the most gallant manner. In the impetuosity of the advance of Willich and Baldwin, the rebels were driven about a mile back along their entire front, but there was no co-operating movement on their flanks, so that Willich soon found his right unsupported, and was compelled to abandon his forward movement and hold his ground. This was done until about an hour before sundown, when the enemy made one of his tremendous attacks in full force on every side and the division was almost enveloped by overwhelming numbers. This sanguinary battle was protracted until it was impossible to distinguish the enemy from our own troops, and a hand to hand fight ensued, which resulted in the repulse of the rebels, while the 2d division held its own position. In the meantime, General Thomas had ordered the division to the brigade commanders, Willich, Baldwin, and Dodge, were notified of the contemplated movement. Soon after Colonel Baldwin re- withdrawal. ceived this order he fell, and the command devolved upon Colonel Berry, who was not aware of it until he saw the other brigades retiring. This unfortunate occurrence preaware of it until he saw the other brigades vented the possibility of moving off all our wounded, and they consequently were taken prisoners. The disposition of the division for the night was made in conformity to Thomas's orders, and General Johnson formed his line with Berry on the right, Dodge on the left, and Willich in reserve, the right resting against Palmer and the left on Baird. Precautions were also taken during the night to erect breastworks to shelter his command, and the troops lay on their arms to snatch hurried repose after the severe labors of the first day's On Sunday, the 20th, all was quiet until about 10 o'clock, when the enemy advanced along the entire front with terrible energy, and for an hour or more hurled his masses against our division, which stood its ground nobly under one of the most terrific musketry fires ever known on this continent. The result was the confused repulse of the rebels with immense loss of life. They did not make any further demonstration in force until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when their masses were again impetuously hurled upon us. At this juncture, Gen. Baird in person appealed to Gen. Johnson for reinforcements or to make a supporting demonstration. In response, the gallant and unflagging Willich was sent with the 9th, 15th, and 49th Ohio, 32d Indiana, and 5th Kentucky, and, charging the enemy, drove him back with great loss and then retired his regiments to their former

While the 2d division thus held its ground, Gen. Thomas gave orders for the withdrawal of the whole army. Gen. Johnson, presuming that this order was predicated upon the supposition that his front was unmenaced, sent word to Gen. Thomas explaining the true position and showing the disastrous results that might follow a retreat. But before answer could be received the withdrawal had been commenced by Reynolds and Palmer, who were promptly followed by a harassing force of the enemy, MILITARY HATS AND CAPS. which exposed the right of the 2d division to such an extent that it would have been inextricably involved but for the coolness of officers and men which accomplished the withdrawal in as perfect order as if on dress parade. The position of Willich's 1st brigade in reserve was admirable, as he was able to engage the rebels in four different directions, and from his well-planted artillery and prompt changes of direction he covered the withdrawal most effectively. The regiments attached to General Johnson's 2d division were the 1st 15th, 49th, and 93d Ohio, 79th and 89th Illinois, 6th, 29th, and 30th Indiana, 77th Pennsylvania, and 5th Kentucky. The way they fought is best testified by the list of casualties, which gives an aggregate of 1,629 killed, wounded, and missing. The death of Col. P. P. Baldwin, who commanded the 3d brigade, was a serious loss to the service. He was the very soul of gallantry. Just before he received his fatal wound, one of his regiments having become somewhat disorganized, he seized the colors and shouted out, "Rally Round the Flag, Boys!" which produced the desired effect; the men rallied, and, reinspired, swept forward in terrible might. Col. W. W. Berry, who succeeded to the command of the brigade at Baldwin's fall, is one of the noble spirits who aided Rousseau in the raising of troops at the first outbreak of the rebellion, and he has been as constantly in service with the Legion in all its battles as have been its regimental colors. The division in the two days' fight captured seven pieces of artillery, took six or seven hundred prisoners, never yielded a foot of ground, repulsed every assault, and drove the rebels in every at-

Two bread riots or rather two no-bread riots have taken place in Mobile, both got up and conducted by the women who raged to and fro like female tigers. THE NEWS FROM TENNESSEE-THE REBELS THREATEN MURFREESBORO AND DRIVE IN THE FEDERAL PICKETS .- From gentlemen from Nashville, and from Nashville papers of yesterday, received last night, we have a few details of the movements of Generals Wheeler and Forrest in the vicinity of McMinnville and Murfreesboro and along the line of the Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad. General Wheeler, it appears, with a cavalry torce variously stated at from five to fifteen thousand, succeeded in crossing the Tennesse River at Washington, in Rhea county, on Friday last, and arriving in front of McMinnville early Saturday morning. The passage of the river was hotly contested by Colonel Wolford's First Kentucky Cavalry and Colonel Byrd's Fourth East Tennessee Mounted Infantry. The Kentuckians and Tennesseeans, however, were overpowered by the largely superior force of the enemy, and compelled to fall back-the Tennesseans losing a number of their men taken prisoners.

When the enemy arrived in front of Mc-Minnville, wheeler demanded the unconditional surrender of the town, which was defended by less than three hundred Federals, most of them convalescents. The demand was at first refused, and Wheeler placed his artillery in position and proceeded to shell the town. After throwing a few shells he renewed his demand for a surrender, and it was accepted. He made prisoners of all the railroad employes, destroyed one locomotive, ten cars, tearing up the railroad track, and plundering the citizens indiscriminately.

At 2 P. M. on Sunday, Col. Ed. McCook came up with a party of those who had captured McMinnville and gave them battle, killing and wounding one hundred and twentyfive, taking ninety prisoners (among them Col. Russell), and recapturing nearly all the plunder.

Sunday morning another detachment of Wheeler's force appeared in front of Murfreesboro, driving, it is said, the Federals into their intrenchments, making no further demonstrations on the works that day, but remaining in the neighborhood, where they were at the date of our latest advices.

Yesterday the rebel cavalry destroyed two bridges on the Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad, one across Stuart's creek, and the other across a fork of Stone river, the latter four miles beyond Murfreesboro. The Nashville Press says that the military were taking active measures to rebuild the bridges.

REBEL RAID INTO GLASGOW, KX.-The reports of another extensive rebel raid into Kentucky which were so industriously circulated about the city yesterday evening, are, in almost every particular, false. The capture of Glasgow by a roving gang of bushwhackers is possibly true, but that the Federal troops stationed there were captured we have reasons to doubt. We publish below a letter received last night from a citizen of Cave City. which fascinated the Prince of Wales. The play is without, of course, vouching for its correct-

CAVE CITY, KY., Oct. 6, 1863. To the Editors of the Louisville Journal: The rebels, under Hughes or Hamilton, in small force made dash into Glasgow this morning about sunrise, surprised and captured I have just learned that they had taken possion of the bank, and would probably rob town. Yours, R.

THE CROPS IN SHELBY COUNTY .- We are informed by a highly respectable and well-posted farmer of Shelby county, who has lately visited all sections of that county, that the damage by the frosts of August and September to the growing crops in that locality was very slight, indeed not worthy of consideration. Neither corn nor tobacco were injured materially. The tobacco crop has about all been cut and housed, and the yield will be above the usual average. Corn never looked better, though some few small fields which were planted unusually late in the season, are slightly injured. The potato crop is also described as good, and the area of land planted in this root is quite as large as in former sea-

The report which gained circulation in this city vesterday that a riot had taken place at New Albany, in consequence of the large amount of coal daily sent from that city to Louisville, to supply the demand here, is utterly without foundation. The report had one man killed. There has been no thought on the part of the citizens to interfere with any one who may either go or send to their city for coal. The price at New Albany yesterday for best Pittsburg was fifty cents per The Seymour, Ind., Times says of the money. They also shot at another citizen of late frosts in that vicinity: "So far as we can Harrison county named Brice Bryan, but did learn, beyond nipping here and there a patch | not injure him. Keller declared to several of late corn, the frost did no particular damage in our vicinity. Speaking of corn, we may remark that this county is bringing forward a heavy crop the present season." We are confident that the reports of great damage to corn and tobacco by the frosts of August and September have been greatly exaggerated, as we daily read accounts in our exchanges similar to the one given by the Seymour paper. We understand that Mr. Ambrose

O'Bannon is a candidate for the office of Tobacco Inspector. His qualifications for the office are certainly unquestionable. Besides being a tobacco-grower of great experience, he is a man of excellent judgment, and of the highest integrity. In short, he possesses in a very eminent degree all the necessary qualifications for the place.

The Committee heretofore appointed to make collections for the relief of the destitute refugees in this city and arriving here daily, have collected the sum of $2,500-$875 75 of the amount in the Sixth Ward. Some of the Ward Committee have not yet reported, They are requested to hand in their reports at the earliest possible moment at the Mayor's Office.

The recent firing from Gen. Gilmore's bat-rebel sources, were directed almost exclusively against the efforts that were making, and which the rebels do not disclose, to erect nev batteries in the ruins of Fort Sumpter. I appears that our reconnoitering boats whic assed near the walls during the night, dis-overed that the garcison was conducting ex-ensive operations, and indications were that the rebels who were gathering in large num-bers would be occupied in erecting batteries inside of the ruins, with the intention of using them when the works should be sufficiently advanced to justify the removal of the broken walls and debris, which protected the work-men and concealed their operations from our view. The rapid and heavy firing of our guns, it is expected, will not only stop this work,

General Gilmore's operations on Morris Island are actively going on. The battery on Cummings' Point now shields our troops perfectly, while the condition of Wagner is such as to protect the troops from all hazard. Still there are a few casualties, all of which occur in consequence of unnecessary exposure. The batteries which are intended to throw may be safely and effectively used. Charles-ton is within fair range of the guns already

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad being unable to obtain sufficient labor to supply the road with the quantity of firewood required to do government business, it becomes necessary to impress five hundred (500) negroes from the negro population of the counties through which the road passes, and in which the firewood is required. By direction of Department Headquarters, the draft is to be made in the same manner as directed by General Orders No. 41, from these headquarters of August 10th. The commander of the post at Russellville will impress the negroes in Logan and Todd counties, and the commander of the post at Bowling Green will impress the negroes in Hart, Barren, and Hardin counties, and they are hereby charged with the execution of this order.

The authorities of the railroad company are to inform the commanders of said posts of the quantity of wood required in each locality, and the number of men and teams required to get out the same. The men and teams impressed shall be placed in charge of the railroad company, who shall pay the owners of the same a reasonable compensation for the services rendered. Upon the proper certificate the same a reasonable compensation for the services rendered. Upon the proper certificate of the railroad company's officer exemption shall be given to the negroes of those parties who have agreed to furnish the railroad company with firewood, also to those who may prefer to hire their negroes to parties having a contract with the railroad company for the delivery of wood. For every 20 cords of fire-wood to be delivered by contract per month one negro shall be exempted. Negroes im-pressed under this order shall also be exempt-ed from work on military railroads in other parts of the State, for which a draft will be made hereafter. The railroad company shall have the right to use any wood along the line of the railroad by paying to the owners thereof a fair compensation. This order is also applicable to the counties of Bullitt, Nelson, and Jefferson, and Lieut. Col. J. N. Stiles, 63d Indiana volunteers, commanding at Shepherdsville, is charged with the execution of it in those counties.

And will positively prevent Yellow Fever Bilious Fever, &c.

THEY CONTAIN NO ALCOHOL OR BAD WHISKEY! They WILL CURE the above diseases in ninety-necessary cases out of a hundred.

Induced by the extensive sale and universal popularity of Hoofland's German Bitters (purely vegetable), hests of ignorent Quacks and unserupulous adventurers have opened upon suffering humanity the floodgates of Nostrums in the shape of poor whiskey, vilely compounded with injurious drugs, and christened Tonics, Stomachics, and Bitters.

Beware of the innumerable array of Alcoholic preparations in plethoric bottles and big bellied kegs, under the modest appellation of Bitters; which, instead of curing, only aggravate disease, and leave the disappointed sufferer in despair.

Do you want something to strengthen you? Do you want a good appetite? Do you want to build up your constitution Do you want to feel well? Do you want to get rid of nervousness?

Do you want energy? Do you want to sleep well? Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling? If you do, use Hoofland's German Bitters.

From Rev. J. Newton Rrown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge. Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects, I yet know of no sufficient reasons why a man may not testify to the benefits he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation, in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Robert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejuefore, and had almost despaired of regaining, herefore thank God and my friend for directing no the use of them.

ASTROLOGY. Look Out! Good News for All! result the saws so beat the means of sectining a speedy and happy marriags. She is therefore a sure dependence.

It is well known to the public at large that she was the first and she is now the only person in this country who can show the likeness in reality, and who can give entire satisfaction on all the concerns of life, which can be attested and proved by thousands both married and single, who daily and eagerly visit her. To all in business her advice is invaluable. She can fortedl, with the greatest certainty, the result of all commercial and business transactions. Madame Snell is a bone fide Astrologist that every one can depend upon. She is the greatest Astrologist of the nineteenth century. Some ladies may be a little timid, though they need not fear, for she practises nothing but what is reconcilable to philosophers; in fact a single visit will satisfy the most fastidious of her respectability, moral rectitude, and of the purity of her profession and practice. All interviews are strictly private and confidential; therefore come, one—come, all.

So Prices reduced to suit the times. Ladies one dollar; gentlemen two dollars.

P. S.—Stadame Snell will tell the names and ages of all visitors, and will also cast their Horoscope and give them their sativity, also tell the place where they will be most fortunate. Every person who cannot get along in this world and has bad luck, should be in possession of her Horoscope and get her written opinion of his future prospect in life.
